Partial Settlement In Rail Shop Strike Expected Shortly

Washington Officials Optimistic Over Series of Meetings Now in Progress in Chicago.

U. S. IS NOT PARTY TO NEGOTIATIONS

But Daugherty Declares That Peace Parleys Will Not Be Affected by Junction.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, September 8.—On the basis of personal reports to administration leaders, a more optimistic view of the railroad strike situation was apparent today in government circles than at any time in the past week. Officials who have been in touch with strike developments declared that settlement of the labor controversy on a number of roads was a probable result of the series of conferences which they understood to be in progress in Chicago.

The extent to which the negotiations might go toward affecting a national settlement was not forecast in these circles.

The Chicago meetings were said to have been largely a result of Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who was understood to have associated with him representatives of about 85,000 miles of operated track.

Attorney-General Daugherty to-night said the government was not a party to any negotiations between the railroads and their employers but declared that such negotiations would not be interfered with by the temporary restraining order issued at Chicago.

There was no development today in connection with the legal backfire started by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers—one group of the striking crafts—through the status of the government's injunction in view of an official statement that a modification of the temporary order would not be opposed when the case was called in Chicago Monday.

The cabinet was said to have discussed briefly also the coal situation, administration spokesmen later expressing confidence that the house and senate conferees would quickly agree on legislation designed to cope with the present situation.

President Harding, it was stated, is particularly concerned with the setting up of machinery for ascertaining facts about the coal industry. The president, it was said, believes the establishment of a fact-finding commission "would be a great progressive step" and would prove to be most important in preventing future suspension of work in both the bituminous and anthracite fields.

SOUTH CAROLINA CANDIDATES WORK FOR SECOND RACE

Columbia, S. C., September 8.—Contests over their efforts in the primary election of the state which polled the heaviest vote in the recent democratic primary, Thomas G. McLeod and Cole L. Bleas, candidates for governor in the second primary on next Tuesday, today were continuing to wage an aggressive campaign.

Mr. McLeod, who yesterday wound up his campaign in Spartanburg county, and spoke in Greenville last night, will speak in the latter place today and continue there for the remainder of the week.

McLeod's headquarters here predict a comfortable majority for their candidate over Mr. E. B. T. Jones, whose name was announced at McLeod's headquarters yesterday.

E. S. Bleas, brother of the former governor, is directing the headquarters of Mr. Bleas here and Robert E. Dennis is directing for Mr. McLeod.

WESTERN RAILWAY EXECUTIVES MEET AT CHICAGO CLUB

But No Statement Is Forthcoming After Conference, Called by B. & O. President.

COPY OF INJUNCTION SERVED ON JEWELL

Despite Silence of Roads' Representatives, Hope Is Felt That the Meeting Will Bring Results.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, September 8.—An informal meeting of western railway executives with Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, the return from the east of B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen, and the failure of the roads to take any definite action looking toward peace marked the progress of the rail strike today.

United States Marshal Hassett and J. P. Noonan, of the department of justice, met the train and gave Jewell his first official service of the temporary injunction issued against the shopmen by Federal Judge Wilkerson last Friday. He accepted service without comment.

The labor leader was accompanied by William H. Johnston, president of the International Brotherhood of Machinists, who also was served with the writ, and Martin F. Ryan, of the Railways Carmen's association.

Willard Silent.

Twenty railroad representatives were Mr. Willard's luncheon guests at the Chicago club. Among them were W. G. Bierd, of the Alton; H. E. Byram, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; Hale Holden, of the Burlington; W. H. Finley, of the Northwestern, and Samuel M. Felton, of the Great Western.

The meeting ended shortly after 3 o'clock. Mr. Willard himself was the first to emerge from the conference room. He was nervous and irritable and refused to make any statement. He did not speak to any of his recent guests as they passed out.

"What was done at the meeting," Mr. Willard was asked.

"I have nothing to say," he replied.

"Will you have a statement later?" he was asked.

"I have already said I have nothing to say. There will be no statement."

"Then, perhaps, there will be a statement tomorrow," the questioner continued.

"I have told you they will be no statement," Mr. Willard replied tersely. "That holds good for tomorrow."

Mr. Felton, head of the western executives, said:

"Others Also Refuse.

"I am not in a position to make any statement regarding the present situation."

"I represent only the western roads and therefore cannot tell what plans were considered in western meetings. I may have a statement to make tomorrow or Monday regarding the rail

La Follette Boom For Presidency By Labor Hinted

Victory in Wisconsin Race Hailed as Triumph Over
"Harding Reactionism."

Atlanta City, N. J., September 8.—Organized labor is considering boozing Senator Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin, for president at the next general election, it was learned here.

Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor and member of the executive council now in session here, said he thought La Follette would make a winning race.

"If La Follette were nominated he would sweep the country," Woll said.

"Talk of La Follette for president is premature," said Samuel Gompers, president of the federation. "La Follette is one of the great men of the country."

Guarded Comment.

Other members of the council here were guarded in their comment on La Follette, but they indicated a strong sympathy with the statements of Gompers and Woll.

Woll characterized the overwhelming renomination of La Follette in the senatorial primaries in Wisconsin as "a bugle call to arms" against what he termed the reactionism of President Harding. Attorney-General Daugherty and Federal Judge Wilkerson in asking for and securing the sweeping injunction against the striking shopmen.

"Harding, Daugherty and Wilkerson set at work a wave of progressivism that is going to force and strength each minute and that will burst forth into tidal wave that will sweep the country aside every element of reaction and every bulwark of bourgeoisie," Woll said.

Atkins' Injunction.

"It would seem that substantial progress in the social and political af-

Ohio Girl Wins Beauty Contest At Atlantic City

Miss Frances Gurr, of Macon, is Among Best Three of National Beauties.

Atlantic City, N. J., September 8.—(Special)—Information reached Augusta tonight of an automobile accident six miles out from Hendersonville, N. C., in which Mrs. J. D. Gunn was probably fatally hurt. She is believed to have sustained internal injuries and her relatives are very anxious about her.

Crossing a railroad track, Henry S. Johnson's Ford was struck by a locomotive drawing a freight train. Mr. Johnson and his two small children were slightly hurt. Mrs. J. Harry Johnson, his mother, and Mrs. Alberta Johnson, his wife, were severely bruised and are suffering from shock.

Mrs. Gunn is Mrs. Alberta Johnson's mother. The Ford was wrecked. The party had left Augusta a week ago for an excursion in the North Carolina mountains and were on their trip home when the accident occurred.

The new queen is 16 years old. Miss Campbell's victory came before 20,000 applauding spectators that filled the famous million-dollar pier.

In winning, she defeated Miss America, the reigning beauty, impersonated by Miss Margaret Gorman, of Washington, D. C.

The fight for the honor of reigns as America's most beautiful girl narrowed down to Miss Campbell, Miss Dorothy Hughes, of New York, and Miss Frances Gurr, of Macon, Ga., late Friday at the conclusion of a glittering parade of beauties from all parts of the country.

These three were selected to represent the inter-city contestants at the final judging of beauties, scheduled for midnight.

More than 200 beautiful women participated in the grand review, they passed the judges' stand, through densely packed masses of spectators, to the tune of a dozen bands.

Scantiness of attire was the predominating note. One dashing beauty wore a clinging, revealing something or other of pure white satin and stockings, the only departure from the general color scheme being a vivid red band around a mass of bronze hair. Miss Hughes wore a compelling black suit, the bottom of the jersey being shot with thin white lines.

Miss Gurr wore a maroon top over a black jersey with black hose and maroon bandana circling her head. Miss Campbell wore a yellow suit with black edging and black hose. Another beauty was attired in a clinging, diaphanous thing of deep red with a gleaming asp circling her head. She represented Cleopatra and was surrounded by a half dozen lithesome, lightly attired girls in waiting.

Twenty railroad representatives were Mr. Willard's luncheon guests at the Chicago club. Among them were W. G. Bierd, of the Alton; H. E. Byram, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; Hale Holden, of the Burlington; W. H. Finley, of the Northwestern, and Samuel M. Felton, of the Great Western.

ROTARIANS HOSTS TO 500 VISITORS

He Believes There Are Too Many Mines and Too Many Miners for Stability.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER.

Washington, September 8.—President Harding is about to undertake what he regards as one of the most progressive and constructive steps in American economic history—stabilization of the great coal industry.

Power to create a commission authorized to undertake this work, never before attempted upon so comprehensive a scale or with such far-reaching reforms in view, will be granted within a few days. Both house and senate have passed so-called fact finding bills empowering unlimited study of the coal industry, these are now in conference, and there is but one serious difference to iron out between the Winslow and Borah measures—that provision in the latter which authorizes study of the advisability of nationalizing the mines.

The president's idea has in mind a "strong commission" which he believes will command the enthusiastic respect and support of both operators and miners as well as the public. Investigation of such a commission has been the president's object ever since the mine strike occurred. From the outset, he has believed that the bimonthly struggles producing expensive coal, fuel shortages, and bitterness between operators and miners were built upon fundamental fallacies and not merely upon superficial contentions such as wage scales, working hours, etc.

Four Troubles.

In a reflective mood, one day, the president made the remark that there were four fundamental causes of mine industry upheavals:

1. That there were too many mines producing coal.

2. That there were too many miners.

3. That as a result of the combination of these two factors there was a lack of continuity in employment

Great Excitement As Andrew Gump Sweeps District

Lawrenceville All "Hot Up" Over "100 Per Cent" Candidate for Congress.

BY STEWART L. GELDENS.

The body politic is all broke out in a rash of excitement. Vox populi is rising above the din of politicians' shouts. From Tybee's wave-lapped beaches to Habers' snow-capped peaks resounds the echo of a conquering statesman's tread.

Lawrenceville, Ga., is in a volcanic uproar of red, white and blue excitement. Barrow county is bubbling over with star spangled enthusiasm. The ninth district is getting in shape to elect the British at Butler Hill and fight the battle of the Marne all over again.

Andrew B. Gump, 100 per cent for the people, is sweeping into the district with a new broom.

Reports from the political front are that he is sweeping it clean.

The Constitution's correspondent in Lawrenceville by special radio Friday night imparted to the breathless wailing world the following political, as it were, bomb shell, and confirmation reports declare that it moves nothing more than an eleven hour

MISSING SHUSTER
GIRL DISCOVERED

Glasgow, Ky., September 8.—Wait for the mail, cooperation. Three boys who were to aid them to slope to Tennessee, Carolyn Shuster, 18, daughter of W. Morgan Shuster, president of the Century Publishing company, New York, and William Morris, 20, son of a Glasgow merchant, were found today by relatives and volunteer searchers at Goodnight, a village eight miles north of here. The couple had been missing since Wednesday night.

Miss Shuster had returned to her mother, Mrs. Pearl Trigg Shuster, with whom she had been visiting relatives of Mrs. Shuster here.

The elopers, it was learned, had planned to go to Jeffersonville, Ind., and be married but this plan was frustrated by the breakdown of their automobile near Cave City.

They spent the night with the family of a farmer and were waiting for their friends to bring another machine, in which they planned to double back on their trail and go to Tennessee.

A reward of $100 had been offered by relatives of Miss Shuster for her detection, unmarried.

MONTH OF SUFFERING ON OCEAN DERELICT

Wilmington, N. C., September 8.—More than a month of helpless drifting at sea on a sailless, waterlogged schooner, swept by continuous storms and a struggle with hunger and thirst, was the story told by members of the crew of the schooner City of Baltimore today following the towing of the vessel into port here by a tug which responded to distress signals.

For days, Captain Rice, master of the vessel, said his crew was without water but stuck to the pump, slaking their thirst with sea water. Finally a supply of water was furnished by a passing steamer, he said, but the men refused the ship's offer to take them aboard and stood by their ship.

The ginlet screw, the idea of a little girl, brought many millions of dollars to its inventor.

MAJOR KEY TELLS EAST ATLANTANS ABOUT HIS RACE

A gathering that bought and ate fried chicken, bid for pies and cakes, listened to selections of the Royal club orchestra and heard Major Key tell why he should be sent to congress, was held in front of the Martha East Atlanta Memorial Methodist church, in East Atlanta, last night from 5 o'clock until 9 o'clock. The money raised, amounting to more than $150, will be used to help the church debt.

Mrs. T. L. Simpson the first to talk explained that W. A. Hansell, her neighbor, who is running for chief of construction, had been called away suddenly but had left a substantial donation and asked all present to vote for Hansell. Then Councilman-elect W. R. Johnson introduced Mayor Key.

Declaring that the needs of the 5th district sorely needed a fearless leader who had a past record of achievement.

Major Key emphatically stated that he would get results in Washington or return home.

DEPUTIES ARREST FEDERAL DRY AGENTS

Providence, R. I., September 8.—Izzy Einstein, Moe Smith and Frank Agents, New York federal prohibition agents, who have been making whirlwind raids here for the past three days were arrested by deputy sheriffs of Providence county superior court for trespassing and assault. The arrests followed the filing of suits in the Providence county superior court seeking damages of $10,000 against each of the agents.

Federal officials said the deputy sheriffs were in contempt in arresting government agents in the prosecution of their duties.

The three agents were released on bail.

Education's Race Is On

In the race of life, EDUCATION plays a most important part, and unless one's education is obtained in early life, the "daily grind" becomes mighty hard to those who are ambitious enough to attend night school or indulge in home study later in life.

We hope the parents of every boy and girl in Georgia will do their utmost to "place" their offspring "in the line" next Monday when school opens, even though it means sacrifice on their part.

50% of your daily diet should be BREAD!

To properly absorb education the child must be properly fed. The people of this country consume less bread than the peoples of any other nation. The building qualities of BREAD were best demonstrated at the various training camps during the war. Men of all ages and from every walk of life went into those camps as an average man—they went "to the front" as specimens of manhood that amazed the overseas nations, and BREAD was served them at EVERY meal in generous proportions. BREAD is truly "the staff of life."

Selecting proper flour for home bread-making is an essential, and to this end we commend to your use "RING'S EXCELLENT"—sold at your grocer's or furnished him by us at your request.

DEPUTIES ARREST FEDERAL DRY AGENTS

Providence, R. I., September 8.—Izzy Einstein, Moe Smith and Frank Agents, New York federal prohibition agents, who have been making whirlwind raids here for the past three days were arrested by deputy sheriffs of Providence county superior court for trespassing and assault. The arrests followed the filing of suits in the Providence county superior court seeking damages of $10,000 against each of the agents.

Federal officials said the deputy sheriffs were in contempt in arresting government agents in the prosecution of their duties.

The three agents were released on bail.

LEGION FIELD DAY PLANS ANNOUNCED

Church Property Belongs to God, Dougherty Rules

Plans for the big field day at Lakewood September 16 and the "on to New Orleans" trip which comes off September 15 were presented for approval at the American Legion luncheon Friday at the Ansley by the committee.

John Slaton, chairman of the "on to New Orleans" committee, reported that there will be about 15 special trains passing through Atlanta October 15 and that invitations have been issued to the Atlanta Legion posts which will cause a large number of legionnaires to stop off here for a short time. He called on every legionnaire of the local posts to make it a point to show the visitors the proper hospitality during that time. Delegations from Macon, Savannah and Augusta will pass through Atlanta.

Mr. Slaton stated that it is very important that all who intend making the trip see him at once so that he might take the necessary steps in securing reservations, both for transportation and accommodation in New Orleans. It is impossible to obtain accommodation in New Orleans on the date of the convention except through the adjutant, he said.

15,000 Tickets On Sale.

The Lakewood festival, which is designed to raise money to defray the expenses of the Atlanta delegation, will start at 2 o'clock in afternoon, September 16. There are now on sale 15,000 tickets, most of which should be sold before September 14, reported J. B. Conyers, chairman of the committee. He stated that the American Legion treasury is aiding in the sale of the tickets, as well as the other woman's clubs.

Johnny Glenn reported that boxing bouts have been arranged between "Fearless" Ferns and Johnny Lynn, who are to go 10 rounds; Jackie Carr and Sailor Vinson, to go six rounds; and "Battling" Benson and "Kid" Brooks, also six rounds. There will be ten races in automobile races, the last will be run by Johnny Aiken and Bob Luton, $1,000 purse, winner all quarter mile and half mile races; half mile Roman race, and a horse show will be features.

Major-General David C. Shanks, commanding general of the forces, whose areas will supervise the staging of the great St. Mihel drive, and has been studying the terrain of the park in order to get the reproduction nearly exact as possible. The canon and other actual implements of modern warfare will take their part showing Atlantans exactly how it is to view a real battle. The pyrotechnics will also be of the military variety.

Ross Post Is Host.

Henry Thomas Ross, post No. 78 was host to the luncheon. Evan P. Howell, commander, presided. Mr. Howell told of the work of the Atlanta Woman's club in selling the trinkets made by the inmates of the government hospital for the mentally deficient. The club, which the legislature passed resolutions of thanks for that club's interest in ex-service men. The government gave $100 for material to be made into the trinkets, explained Mr. Howell, and they can get no more material until the present supply of trinkets is disposed of.

Mr. Howell also announced the veterans' luncheon will be established with headquarters on the third floor of 14 1/2 Marietta street, which is headquarters for post No. 1. A contact man will be kept there at all times to aid the ex-soldier in any way he needs aid, he said, but particularly in helping him get fair adjustment of whatever claims he might have.

SENATE TO PROBE COTTON MARKETING

Washington, September 8.—A broad investigation by the senate agriculture committee into the methods and practices employed in the marketing of cotton was ordered by the senate today in the adoption of the resolution by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, which seeks to determine whether there is interference with the supply and demand in the cotton market.

It is claimed in pamphlets to the resolution that the combination of the carry-over and the estimated production for this year will not be sufficient to meet the world demand and that quotations fail utterly to respond to these conditions. It is further stated that cotton consumption both here and abroad has increased but there has been a marked decrease in revenue to the producer, a condition which it is alleged, threatens to damage the industry seriously.

ANDREW GUMP RACE CREATES EXCITEMENT

canard or less than a trumpet call rallying the people of the great old district to once again defend their rights from the oppressor and save American independence and personal liberty of the alleged skin of its so-called teeth.

Here is the dispatch:

Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., Dear Sirs:

This town is placarded all over, on billboards, telephone poles, trees on the public squares, that Hon. Andrew B. Gump, candidate for congress, will address the voters on the issues here Saturday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Great excitement prevails.

A rumor that could not be confirmed was to the effect that he will be introduced to the public by Mr. Simon. Mr. Gump's opponents, however, assert that in a telegram to "Little Bud" Born, the major states that if he were going to be in Georgia on the 13th he would certainly vote against Gump. Senator O. A. Nix paused long enough in the midst of a very important case he is trying in a Court of Superior Court to characterize Mr. Gump's detractors as demagogues, without intelligence or character.

This correspondent feels that he will not be able to handle the story as it merits, and suggests that you send Holloman and your other two best political reporters to cover this momentous occasion. We offer you this as the political scoop of the year.

WOMEN'S BUILDING IS OPENED AT ROME

Rome, Ga., September 8.—(Special) The lecture course at the new Woman's building was opened Thursday with a political debate on the respective merits of the candidates for governor of Georgia, the claims of Governor Hardwick being supported by Hon. Claude Porter, and those of his opponent by Solicitor James Maddox of the Floyd city.

Other speakers, members of the Woman's Building association, were admitted and neither speaker was permitted to do more than uphold the claims of his own candidate.

City, Mo., made the principal speech on "Rotary, a Business Force." Mr. Havens spoke of the golden rule in business, saying that is the true Rotary course to pursue, and that a Rotarian is a citizen of the world in his heart. He made the point of the salvation of the world from conflict from within as the real mission of Rotary.

Walter Pierpont, of Savannah, governor of the 50th Rotary district, presided at the morning business session at which boy's work was discussed.

A resolution introduced by Victor Kriegsbaer, of the Atlanta club, endorsing the boy's welfare work accomplished by the Brunswick club, was adopted.

The resolution read as follows:

"Rotary assembled at the inter-city meet in Atlanta, September 8, endorses the boy's welfare work of St. John's Haven situated on St. Simon's Island. We rejoice, approve, and praise the good work of the Brunswick Rotarians who have so heroically struggled to keep the institution in existence, and command to all Rotarians throughout Georgia the continued support of St. John's Haven."

Among the speakers who described the boy's work accomplished by the various clubs were William H. Miller, West Point; Millard Reese, of Brunswick, and Superintendent of schools Willis A. Sutton, of Atlanta.

Johnny Weismuller, of the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago, world's champion swimmer for the sprints up to 500 yards, gave the Rotarians a chance to view his famous 6-2 stroke, six kicks to two hand strokes, with which he has broken all the records, including those of the New Haven and East Lake. He did what he called his "Canary dive," his "Chinese drop," and a number of "Dolphin turns."

The winners of the athletic events at East Lake were: Love team match won by G. W. Brine and L. L. Shivers of Atlanta; low gross score by Eben Taylor, and S. Solomon, of Macon; individual low gross won by George Daniels, of Marietta; and low net individual by Hubert Anderson, of Atlanta.

THE ALABAMA APPROACH.

Council acted wisely in appointing a committee to take under immediately consideration the matter of changing the location of the city fire engine house on Alabama street, with the view of permitting connection between Alabama street and the new Spring street viaduct.

This connection is impossible unless the fire house is entirely remodeled or removed to some other location.

It is estimated that it will be more advisable to move it than to remodel

it, the cost of alteration being excessive on account of the fact that the city's electric fire alarm system centers there.

It was originally proposed that the Alabama street approach to the Spring street viaduct would begin at the western side of the fire house, thus relieving the city of the expense of relocation. It was found, however, that this would necessitate an 8 per cent grade, which is prohibitive. By beginning the viaduct at Forsyth street the grade to the Spring street viaduct would be only 4 per cent. This plan was accordingly approved with the recommendation that it will be necessary for the city to make material changes in its fire house plans or change that house to another location, if the connection is to be made.

The bid accepted for the construction of the Spring street viaduct gives the city the option of making the Alabama street connection at the same unit cost, provided the city exercises this option by 1923.

With this end in view council's committee now has under consideration the matter of disposing of the Alabama street fire house, or a change in the system of electric alarm installation.

The committee to which has been given this very important assignment will no doubt be able to work out the problem in a satisfactory manner, and it is of the utmost importance that there should be as little delay as possible.

It would be most unfortunate for the city to fail to exercise this option, for it would mean, perhaps, an end for many years to the plan to establish this very important viaduct connection. Ultimately, of course, it will have to come, but the longer it is delayed the more expensive will be the cost.

Fortunately the matter is in the hands of a very competent committee and the result of its negotiations will be watched with keen interest.

The failure of council to work out a satisfactory plan to make this connection would be a source of general disappointment.

REAPING THE HARVEST.

The plight of unhappy Greece, in the process of again being bled

by war even before her ends resulting from the recent world conflict have had time to heal, affords a striking and tragic illustration of "sowing the wind and reaping a whirlwind."

When the world war ended the reins of the Greek government were in the hands of Premier Venizelos, who, following the abdication of King Constantine, had piloted his nation throughout the conflict from which it emerged victorious and in the most advantageous position in the family of nations it had held within a century.

During the period of world-wide unrest, social disorder and political turmoil incident to post-war readjustment, Venizelos—a towering figure, universally recognized as being one of the leading statesmen of the times, and enjoying the confidence and the highest respect of all of the triumphant allied nations—was overthrown by his constituents and virtually banished from the land.

Like Aristides the Just, he was denounced and stripped of authority for no other apparent reason than that the Greek people could no longer stand hearing him universally acclaimed for his greatness.

When Venizelos fell the leadership of Greece was restored to Constantine, brother-in-law of the former German kaiser, who, with his household, had been driven from the country during the war because of his sympathy with the central powers and disloyalty to the cause of the allies.

From that day to this the Greek government has suffered grievously by reason of its lack of confidence, sympathy and co-operation of the nations with which it, under the progressive, statesmanlike leadership of Venizelos, had fought the war and participated in the allied victory over the enemies of democracy and civilization.

Now she is engaged in another sanguinary conflict with the Turks, allies of the central powers, in the world war, and her traditional foes.

Having lost to the hosts of Kemal most of the territory that had been wrested from her by the Turks generations ago, and which the peace conference had generously restored to her, Greece, in sheer desperation, is again calling to her world-war allies for help!

She may or she may not receive it.

What the ultimate outcome of the present situation is to be is problematic; but if the worst comes following the present crisis, one thing is certain: That the Greek people will have nobody but themselves to blame for it!

NEWBERRY AS AN ISSUE.

Out in the state of Washington United States Senator Poindexter, seeking renomination, is being relentlessly assailed by his opponent on his record in the Newberry case, the senator being one of the majority members who voted to permit the Michigan millionaire to retain the seat which a trial jury declared he had obtained by corrupt and venal use of money.

Rising to the defense of the senator under attack, The Portland Oregonian, published in an adjoining state, argued editorially a few days ago that it is unfair and improper to drag the Newberry incident into a campaign in a state so far from Michigan as is Washington, for the reason that it is not an issue and reference to it is irrelevant.

"Newberry," said The Oregonian, "may be an issue in Michigan, but not in Washington nor Oregon."

Right there is where The Oregonian is in error.

Newberry, or "Newberryism," is not merely an issue in Michigan, but a national issue.

In every state in which a senator who voted to seat Newberry—thereby voting his approval of the methods by which Newberry originally gained access to the senate—is a candidate for re-election "Newberryism" is as much an issue as it is in the state of Michigan.

In recognition of this relationship, George Edward Williams, who came from North Carolina in 1882 and settled in Nacoochee, a valley, and comfortable, settled about 40 of his tenants, who came with him, upon his "new" acquired property; these tenants were connected with the Williams family in the association of landlord and tenant, and the Williams family, in turn, had nothing to do with the Newberry family.

The reunion was held to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the coming of the Williams to Georgia, and was attended by members from Washington, D. C., and several states.

One interesting event in connection with the celebration should not be passed over without mention being made of it.

At Home Park.

The meeting held by the Home Park P.T. A. in the school auditorium on Wednesday in accordance with the request of Professor Sutton, was well attended and very interesting.

Matters of importance pertaining to school affairs were discussed and the guest of honor, Mrs. Bruce Carr Jones, president of State Street P.T. A., made an interesting talk on the opportunity school and the baby center at the Barnett church.

The treasurer made a splendid report of funds and carried over from last year.

The association is entering into the new year with renewed enthusiasm, and expects to accomplish great things during the coming year.

Mrs. Hunnicutt Is Open All Day Today!

High's Saturday Hours: 9:00 to 5:30Silk and Wool Dresses
They're Wonders at Their Prices--

$14.00 and $19.00

Specially bought. But it isn't even necessary to mention that. One can see it the minute one sees the dresses.

Style is a hobby with the manufacturer who made them. He likes the little new quirks and turns of fashion. He's ever on the lookout for something new. Even his inexpensive dresses have a modish air. These dresses are an example of it. And the materials are splendid, too.

Of heavy Canton crepe, satin crepe and all-wool Poiret twill. Some of the silk dresses have side drapes of Spanish silk lace; some have side panels and drapes pleated or lined with silk in contrasting colors. The Poiret twill dresses show new panels, uneven hem-line and fancy girdles. All in all, there are forty different styles to choose from. They're in navy, brown and black. Sizes 14 to 40.

They're the best dresses we've seen for anything like $14 and $19 this season, and you're going to say the same thing about them.

Visitors to Be Guests of Miss Carpenter

Miss Helena Hermance and Miss Virginia Peeler will arrive Monday from Massachusetts to be the guests of Miss Edythe Carpenter at her home on the Prado.

Miss Hermance has been at her summer home on Lake Coontooee, Mass., and also at Miss Peeler's summer home in Massachusetts. Both Miss Hermance and Miss Peeler are hosting at delightful house parties during the summer.

As Miss Carpenter's guests, the charming young girls will be entertained.

Monday evening Miss Edythe Carpenter will give a dance in their honor.

Mr. J. N. Harper and Miss Lucy Elizabeth Harper left Friday night for New York, where Miss Harper will enter the junior class at Barnard college.

A matinee party will be given by Miss Sue Manning in honor of the house party today, and Miss Agnes Klein will entertain at the dinner club.

THE AUTHORMAN IS SHOCKED.
Whenever I have occasion to renew our household insurance, the question of values is raised again in the family council and I take stock of household furnishings and of clothes and try to reckon what it would cost to replace them.

And when I lay down my clothes at the end I always say: "Oh, wouldn't it be fun if there should be a fire that would burn up all my clothes but leave my household furniture untouched. I'd just like to have a couple of things and let the rest of my clothes go."

The Insurance Wouldn't Cover.

The authorman has heard that several times but he always shocked and never fails to remind me that even with the liberal insurance, we carry, if I had to replace all my large and small pieces of furniture, the clothes I would soon find that the insurance would not come anywhere near covering my loss.

And I never fail to answer: "But it would be such fun to have everything new and have them all match the way I can't afford them myself."

Sometimes when I have to endure such tedious wait or tiresome trying to earn a living, I pretend that all except my favorite gown and beloved fur have been burned up by a well-bred fire that knew just where to stop and I allot myself a fair share of the insurance and mentally buy myself a new wardrobe.

Childish I suppose so. But isn't it a recommendation that we have to children all the happiness that can be gotten out of let's pretend. Should we not be happier if we didn't forget how to find the path that leads to the land of make-believe?

And when a wedding a wedding trip and her delight in being the centre of the stage for a time. Suppose the holy bonds were not thus decorated and obscured, would as many women hasten to put them on?

Do you think all this is a frivolous way of talking since that concerns the marriage of a man's love of clothes?

I wonder. I know a woman who is a spinsters, a great mother, an all-round home-maker, and a great reader and thinker. She wrote me one day not long ago that a great event was about to happen in her life. She had been married ten years and not once in that time had she worn out an outfit, not even a tiny suit, blouse, hat, shoes, stockings and gloves all at once. Now she was just about to celebrate her tenth anniversary by buying such an outfit. And she called it a great event and wrote with an enthusiasm that showed the words were not spoken wholly in jest.

"Let's Pretend."

Sometimes when I have to endure such tedious wait or tiresome trying to earn a living, I pretend that all except my favorite gown and beloved fur have been burned up by a well-bred fire that knew just where to stop and I allot myself a fair share of the insurance and mentally buy myself a new wardrobe.

Childish I suppose so. But isn't it a recommendation that we have to children all the happiness that can be gotten out of let's pretend. Should we not be happier if we didn't forget how to find the path that leads to the land of make-believe?

Homely Wisdom.

Close your piano on a damp day. A stone jar is an excellent cookie holder.

Cornmeal will remove grease spots from carpet.

Butterscotch sauce is delicious over vanilla ice cream.

Thorough rinsing of the clothes is absolutely essential to perfect washing.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Smelly Stove.
Drop a piece of gum camphor into the tank of the oil stove if it smells. It will remove the unpleasant odor.

The Laundry List.
Always make a duplicate list of clothes sent to the laundry. Then there can be no mistakes resulting in loss to yourself.

Turn to the Front.
Eru is a splendid shade to use as a foundation for lamps, draperies, etc. It combines with practically any color and sheds a soft, yet bright light.

Helps Remove Shine.
One tablespoonful of ammonia to a quart of tepid water is an excellent solution with which to sponge a shiny skirt.

When marking linens it is very difficult to prevent the ink from spreading. If you mark the name or initials in with pencil first, and then go over it with the ink, it will not spread.

THE HASTY AND EFFECTIVE TOILETTE.

A number of letters have come in to me from business girls in which they say they are anxious to follow the advice given in the chats, as to bathing and other details comprising the dainty toilette, but cannot spare time enough to read the entire article.

One girl writes: "I only have 20 minutes to get dressed so how can I take a full bath, much less all the other things I should love to do, in order to be fresh for the work of the day?"

And so, for other girls just as situated, I have arranged a combination of essentials which will take but ten minutes to perform. I find any other person could do them in much the same time.

Turn on the hot water and, during the time that it takes for two to three inches of it to run into the tub, clean the teeth, snuff a little water up the nose and drink, at least, one glass of clear cold water.

Turn on the bath tub and scrub the fingers, nail beds with a nail brush, then clean the nails and polish the cuticle back with an orange stick, which should be kept with brush and soap.

Now the water is ready and should be as hot as comfortable—unless you take the tonic cold bath which is not, however, cleansing. If the water is not hot, add a few drops of ammonia or a few drops of benzoin. Wash the face, arms and neck, and so on, sopping as much hot water over all as is possible. Now turn to the cold water and rinse off the face and throat, sopping plenty of it over the skin. Turn the cold water on full force and let cool the bath water.

At this time some exercise may be worked in. Draw yourself up to the foot of the bath tub, knees doubled, then lie back and push yourself up to the head, which will mix the hot and cold water; push yourself to a sitting position again; and repeat the exercise or invent any new ones that will keep you moving and also mix the temperature in the water.

Girls of High School Begin Civic Program

BY LEONORA ANDERSON

The members of the class of 1922, Girls' High school, will begin their first civic work Monday.

At a meeting of a committee of the girls, held Friday at the school, at which Miss Olive Hall, past president of Mallow Society, presided, it was decided how, when, and where the "22 girls" could do their share in promoting education week. They will establish a book exchange in the library of the school where the seniors of last year will sell their own books and any contributed by the seniors and juniors of this year to the under-class girls. They expect through this method to accomplish a great deal—to kill two or three birds with one book sale. The class of 1922 will not realize any financial profit; all that is raised on their own individual text books will go towards one big fund—a memorial to be left to the new school in memory of this class and its achievements.

From the books given in for sale by other students than these girls, five cents on each volume sold will go for the same end. A book sold for thirty cents will bring in to the original owner twenty-five cents, and to watching the political situation which is delaying the selection of the new school site and the building of a modern high school with adequate recreation grounds.

Teachers Given Welcome Party.

A welcome party given the teachers of Williams Street school by their P.T. A. was most enjoyable and full of interest. Mrs. George Russey, the newly-elected president, with her social committee, had planned many pleasant surprises, and the teachers were given a hearty welcome.

Several new members were also welcomed.

Mrs. Russey presided over a short business session, after which, in connection with the observance of educational week, different phases of school work were presented and discussed.

An interesting talk to the mothers on their responsibility in the child's education was given by Mrs. Mitchell, one of the first patrons of the school.

The following girls will speak in behalf of their worthy cause to the various classes to assemble Monday: Misses Olive Hall, Juanita Green, Norma Tucker, and Beatrice Holman. The poster, which will be used in the school advertising of the sale in the school, consists of Misses Elizabeth Mann, Catherine Culbreth, Evelyn Miller, and Julia Patterson. Other members of the committee are Misses Margaret Zaffan, Henrietta Etch, and Margaret Whittington.

A Great Loss.

The business committee assembled at the school on Friday threatened to turn into an indignation meeting when the 1922 girls, glancing out of the back windows of the library, beheld three grim, gray new school buildings erected on the basket ball court. Though these girls will not return as students to the school, they had the school and civic spirit to feel the loss of the court as deeply as if they themselves were deprived of their favorite sport. All over the city Girls' High school girls are discussing the loss of their basketball court. The basketball season, and then those two days in the school year, when freshmen and seniors alike meet for the inter-class tournament, with colors and yell and class songs, to witness hard fought games, are the gala times of the year. It is then that the "old girls," those who graduated in 1921, '20, and some even in 1919 and '18, come back to Girls' High school to cheer with their sister classes. The tie is so close, so much so, to bind the graduates to their school, to keep up the old spirit after high school days are over, is thus threatened if this stimulation to school spirit is destroyed, and graduates and undergraduates—coming citizens—are

Children's Matinee At Alpha Theater.

The adventures of Captain Kidd continues to draw hundreds of Atlanta boys and girls to the Alpha theater each Saturday morning to the special movie program sponsored by the better films committee. The twelfth episode of this gripping drama will be shown Saturday morning when Eddie Polo will be seen in "A Fight for Fortune," said to depict perhaps the most thrilling action of the entire serial.

In addition a splendid program of unusual merit has been arranged. Buster Keaton, comedian of the highest rank, will be seen in "The Paleface," a late release by First National, and a picture that is said to contain many humorous situations. An educational film entitled, "The Vagrant," and a two reel comedy with Lloyd Hamilton completed the program.

Directed in cooperation with members of the better films committee, arranges for each performance special acts of interest to boys and girls.

The chaperones for this performance will be Mrs. W. P. Lemmon and Mrs. Howell Dodd.

CHAPTER IX.

Lorraine was on the veranda arranging some flowers, she had just picked, in vases, when, looking up from her task, she saw the buggy with Miss Pelton and Alistair come swiftly along the road and draw up at the gate. Ted had told her the night before of what he had learned over the telephone from the hotel clerk as to Alistair's sudden change of plans, and his own conclusion that he had gone to Garston in pursuit of Miss Pelton. This only bore out what Olney had told Lorraine as to their being engaged.

Ever since, Lorraine had been conscious of a sense of depression. Her thoughts had been concerned not a little with Mr. Kilgour since her return home, and she was ashamed of herself for having harbored such misgivings. She tried to feel glad for both their sakes that the two had come together again. She felt that she ought to be because she had known herself the original cause of their temporary estrangement, and her over-sensitive conscience had a slight feeling of guilt as regards the past week and its events. Not that she felt that she was responsible for what had happened or that she had made any advances to Mr. Kilgour. The very change in her attitude towards him, however, the intimacy of their associations and a sweetness she had found in it that she dare not deny to herself, as well as his altered manner towards her, all made her conscious of a sense of disloyalty to her friend.

So she sat still, bending her head over the flowers, her fingers doing their work skillfully even if her thoughts were not governing them. It was so that Alistair found her as, with a light and eager foot, he mounted the steps and stood looking down upon her.

She looked up and smiled at him, noting on his face a certain look of brightness and hope that she had not seen there before, not after they had won Pronto from Mr. Stubbs, or when they had supper together coming on the train back from Revelstoke. He had been bright and jolly enough then; but this was a new expression with something of triumph in it as well as something of hope or joy.

She put the flowers that lay in her lap on the settee beside her and rose to her feet. His eyes were scanning her face eagerly and noted its wistful cast and in spite of all his ardor, his tongue hesitated. Lorraine, true daughter of Eve, spoke first. "I am glad to see you back and to be able to thank you for all you did for me and for us all."

"Oh, but that was nothing, nothing at all. Let me forget about it; but I have some other good news to tell you."

It happened as she had thought then, and he was going to tell her. He expected her to be glad, as she ought to be for Amy's sake and his, for were they not both her friends?

She felt terrified that she might be to him that she was not as glad as he expected; that her congratulations might seem cold and perfunctory in spite of herself from her very nervousness. He had paused, and in her mind the silence seemed pregnant and ominous. If she did not speak he would think her cold and might guess at what her own heart had not yet dared to admit to her. She would lose his good opinion which she felt had won, and this would be grievous to her. So with a precipitate burst of her panic she hastened to fill the void at the first opportunity, to forestall if she might such an unwelcome contingency.

"I think I can guess what is your good news: and I congratulate you most heartily and wish you both every joy. I am so fond of Amy—she is such a lovely girl—and I know that you will make her happy. I have cause to know how kind and—

Then when I gave in to you and—ah, you were so kind and gentle to me, I think it was then, sir—I think it was then, Alistair, my dear, that I first knew that I loved you and—and—and I hope that now you are satisfied."

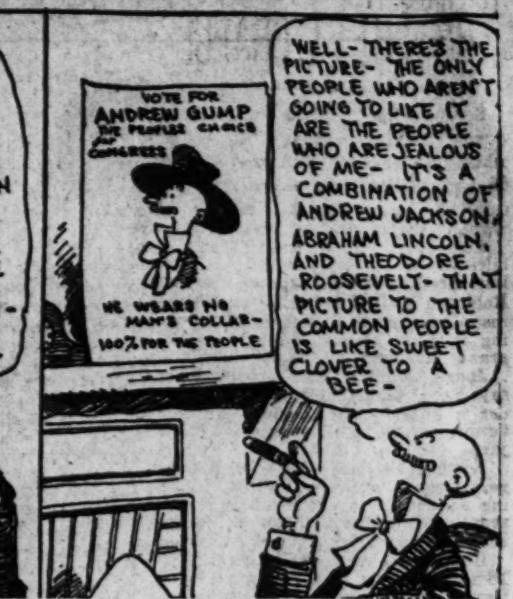

Falling right upon the lip-language which is so potent for love-making, he kissed her again for answer.

Just at this moment footsteps were heard on the veranda steps, the foot-steps of Miss Paget and Mr. Durie, who had returned from the station. They were silent as taken back as the two wavers by the sight that met them and they halted half-way up the steps, arrested by astonishment. The former had hurriedly separated and were standing side by side blushing and altogether out of countenance. Alistair, however, although his face had flushed, was not so discomposed. With head thrown back, he faced the newcomers and said.

"Lorraine has just promised to be my wife," he said.

Mr. Durie was the first to answer him.

"Bless my soul! so you are back again, Alistair, my boy, and that is what you are up to. You certainly have lost no time, it would appear Suppose we go and break the news to my brother-in-law, and they can follow us in 10 minutes or so, as soon as they are ready," and the two went into the house.

When they had gone Lorraine was seized with a sudden access of shyness.

"I had forgotten my flowers. I must finish them before dinner."

"Let us sit down and finish them together, Lorraine," Alistair replied.

"From now on, dearest, in joy and in sadness, in sickness or pain, it shall be we two together always, all the way."

THE END.

John Staton Discusses Fullback Problem Facing Yellow Jackets

Declares Likely Candidates on Hand to Bid for Position—Hunt as Possibility.

BY JOHN STATON
Another day, another practice, and by the time you read these lines it will be only three weeks until the official opening of Tech's 1922 football season. The time is so short, even at this late date, nothing of the knock down, drag out stuff has been indulged in.

The most strenuous of all work so far in the daily grind that "Papa Charlie" Johnson puts us through. "Father" spent some time in his uncle's army and learned all these new tricks, exercises and things, which he springs most regularly on the sweating candidates every afternoon. Such mediums of torture as opening and closing the fingers rapidly, about a thousand times, are freely indulged. Then we have a regular necking party every afternoon. Not in the sense of the term, it is common usage however.

This party consists of pulling the hands back of the neck and pulling the neck down to the chest. Then reverse the process—pull the neck up, resisting with the hands. Some fun, eh? Oh, we have a regular jamboree every day from four until five-thirty. Come out some day and watch the fun.

Fullback Problem

In view of the well equipped material on hand, and the quantities of that same material, the famous fullback problem becomes vanishingly small. In fact it approaches zero as a limit. First there is Godwin, regular fullback on the freshman team of last season. Walt weighs somewhere in the vicinity of 200 pounds, and is he underslung? He stands between two and four feet in his stockings, and does the hundred sometime between now and sundown. Seriously, Walt has worked hard all summer, and has developed his speed remarkably. He can run the line standing remarkably a foot and a half, or two feet off the horizontal.

Now, there is Pinky Hunt, reserve quarterback. What's the matter with him? Only his weight, while his bucking ability and experience offset that little discrepancy. Pinky weighs more than he ever has, hauling out some 146 pounds. He is fast, alert on his feet, a good thinker, and valuable in inference.

With the line that Tech ought to have this season, so much weight will be on the backs. In the backfield if the line materializes as expected, the main job of the backfield men will be to run through the holes when they are opened up. And it doesn't take a very heavy man to do that.

You must not overlook Pup McWhorter and Fish Davis, halfbacks from the freshman team. Both are heavy men, fast and shifty. They play a good game of ball, and have even been known to use their heads at times. As interferers they will pass muster quite well.

Whelchel to Bid

"Calipe" Whelchel will make a strong bid for the place too. He will be remembered as the holder of the southern record in the javelin throw. "Calipe" has been a reserve fullback for two years now and ought to know the place pretty thoroughly. His chief trouble in the past has been getting started and going into the hole low enough. If he can rectify these two faults there is nothing to keep him from going good. He has plenty of traction, and is able to keep his feet when all around him have lost theirs. If a fullback can't be found among these five men, then we can just play the game with two halves and two quarters, making a dollar fifty in all. We have plenty of halfbacks and quarterbacks.

Coach Alex will appear in person on the field to foul and clog sharp on Monday. Get your running early. Real heartbreaking work may be looked for then. The dummies will be strung up, the bucking frames brought out of exile, and then watch them sweat. It will be a soiree worth watching, no doubt. It will only last for about ten minutes but at that it will be a start.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Browns Lose Lead.

St. Louis, September 8.—St. Louis dropped to second place in the American League pennant race today by losing to Detroit 8 to 3, while New York defeated Washington 8 to 1. New York is now in the lead by half a game.

Detroit did not tally an assist until the 8th inning when Shorten, batting for Shock, grounded to Cutshaw, who then doubled into the gap up to the 7th when he was replaced by Oleson. Kenneth Johnson knocked his 30th homer of the season, regaining the major league home run leadership. Two more were on base when the circuit drive came in the seventh off Johnson. It was the fourth home run by Williams in the last four games. George Sisler, with two hits out of three, was making 37 consecutive games in which he has hit safely. This is only three under the modern major league record. Bobby Veach clouted two four baggers, with a man on base each time. Both were off Shock.

RADIO DEPARTMENT

ACES WILL PLAY REQUESTS TONIGHT

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

BY EDWARD N. DAVIS

Formerly Technical Electrical Expert for United States Government

LESSON NO. 143.

Points to Remember.

Mighty Lak a Rose'
Heads List — Dominos to Give Program Between 9 and 10.

At least three listeners are going to be happy at some time between 6 and 9 o'clock tonight when Warner's Seven Aces, The Atlanta Constitution orchestra, will present their daily concert from Station WGM. The Atlanta Constitution. Tonight, like most other Saturday nights, is to be featured by request numbers.

Almost every Saturday night B. H. Warner's music makers, who are heard every night from Station WGM, give a program plus the program of request numbers. Tonight three of these request numbers will be played. One will be a trumpet solo, "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Tom Brannon, with orchestra. This was the first number heard from Station WGM after installation of The Constitution's new broadcasting equipment, two weeks ago. The words of it were written by Tom L. Johnson, laureate of the south and a member of The Constitution staff. The other request numbers will be "Dream of Heaven," a beautiful waltz, and "Some Sunny Day." Both of these will be played by the orchestra.

Three snappy fox trots are also on the program and it is highly probable that hundreds more of the three whose requests are filled to-night will be pleased with the Aces' program.

VETERAN ASSAIS HARDWICK'S VETO OF PENSION BILL

Walker campaign headquarters Friday made public a letter in which Governor Hardwick will broadcast music by the Atlanta Dominos, a dance organization that plays twice a week at Roseland, Atlanta dance hall at the corner of Peachtree and Cain streets.

The Dominos, playing for dances at Roseland as their music is broadcast, also make a good impression with radio listeners. Their program tonight will consist of about 12 numbers which will be announced during the program by radiophone.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.
Radio Editor—I have built a varo-coupler (crystal) set and get nothing but code on it. The code is not clear. Can you tell me what is wrong? Can you tell me what I can do to an insensitive crystal. You may be too far from any of the broadcast stations. Try to find out what other stations near you receive the broadcasting on a crystal set. If they do, it is a better and more sensitive crystal.

Radio Editor—Does a lightning arrester and ground wire in any extent? Is a lightning switch safer than a lightning arrester? M. S. W.

Mr. Calhoun's letter to the Associated Press says that lightning arresters will weaken incoming signals at all. In fact, they are claimed to be static to some extent. On a receiving set, it is much safer than a lightning arrester, and you always run the chance of forgetting to ground out the lightning arrester. A lightning arrester is always in service.

Lewis Elliott, a wounded veteran of the world war from New York city, is walking to San Francisco. He is accompanied by his wife.

TO THE PEOPLE OF FULTON COUNTY:

I am a candidate for one of the two places at large on the Board of County Commissioners. I was a member of this Board during the years 1911-12-13-14, and during this time I always advocated the most rigid economy consistent with progressive methods in all county affairs. As evidence of this I wish to call your attention to the financial record during my term of office as compared with the past four years.

The total revenue collected through taxation to be expended by the Board of Commissioners during the four years in which I was a member of the Board was $3,472,000.00. Out of this total sum the courthouse was built at a cost of $1,384,000.00, and other real property acquired for county use of the value of $33,600.00.

During the past four years, 1918 to 1921, the record is as follows: There was a total revenue collected to be expended by the Board of $5,999,000.00, and the only real property acquired for county purposes was $64,115.00, showing that it cost the county over $3,000,000.00 more to run its ordinary affairs in the last four years, without apparent necessity, than during the four years when I was a member.

This comparative statement shows clearly the need of an economical and business-like management of the county's affairs, which it will be my purpose to insist on if elected.

I favor a change in the system of valuation in vogue at present by which Fulton County is now paying one-fifth of the entire state taxes, to a system that will put Fulton County on the same basis with all the other large city counties in the state.

I am convinced that one of the greatest needs of the county is an adequate system of repairs on all roads that will keep them in perfect repair and avoid rebuilding.

During my term of office I at all times advocated protection of the human needs of the county, such as charities, etc., and full co-operation in the matter of educational facilities.

I earnestly solicit your support and if elected will give my best efforts in serving the people of this county in every section, without regard to any special interests.

HARDWICK SCORED BY NEWSPAPERS

Walker campaign headquarters in a statement Friday claimed praise for Clifford M. Walker and condemnation of the administration of Governor Thomas W. Hardwick is voiced by several newspapers of Georgia. Several clippings were given out for publication.

The Walker managers called attention to one editorial printed in State Senator James H. Boykin's newspaper, The Lincoln Journal, which the managers declare is one of the clearest political statements printed in the campaign.

Journal Editorial.

Following is the editorial in Senator Boykin's paper:

The state of Georgia is in a bad plight. It is doubtful if the commonwealth has ever been so low an ebb in these respects as it is now. The condition of the state must be taken into account when the new state will disintegrate rapidly, and she becomes hopelessly entangled in a maze of problems that it will be difficult to extricate her from.

Two years ago Tom Hardwick took the stump and promised many promises, but he has not kept them. He has not given a way of making people believe that he meant to try to keep his promises, and because they had failed in his utterances, he has become hopelessly entangled in a maze of problems that it will be difficult to extricate her from.

Pearson Tribune: "A straw ballot last week shows that Clifford Walker is the popular choice in North Georgia, and probably in Berrien County, Hardwick's unbridled tongue and pants continue to drive voters from his standard. He is between the upper and nether stone of loquacity abusing people who do not agree with him and is forcing his defeat slowly but most assuredly."

Coldele Ledger: "Conditions at Milledgeville are a disgrace to Georgia and a shame on the Hardwick administration."

Barnesville Gazette: "Politics enters too largely into dealing with enforcement of the law. Even the present governor went into office encouraging mobs and the spirit of lawlessness."

Condele Dispatch: "Hardwick has no more right to hold up his unclean hands and yell for the support of the respectable citizens of Georgia than he had the day Tom Watson elevated him to the governorship."

JOSIAH COWEN YORK
DIES FRIDAY NIGHT

Josiah Cowen York, retired merchant and popular Atlanta citizen, died last night at his home, 1045 Highland Avenue.

He was born on March 4, 1841 and for many years was a merchant in Rockmart, Ga. During the civil war he served in the Confederate army under General Wheeler's cavalry.

Mr. York is survived by four sons, E. H. Steele, John and Grady C. York, and by four daughters, Mrs. R. J. Thomas, Mrs. J. O. Baxter, Mrs. L. C. Dean and Miss Kathleen York.

The funeral arrangements will be made by the York family.

He is also survived by his brother, O. H. York of Rockmart, Ga.

FINAL SERVICE HELD FOR DR. MCG. SHIELDS

The funeral of Dr. M. McG. Shields, superintendent and evangelist of the Home Mission board of the Presbyterian Synod of Georgia, was held Thursday in Cartersville, N. C., where the body was taken.

He died at his home at 121 South Cartersville Avenue on Wednesday. He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Shields, and two sons, Rev. Harold Shields, of Norfolk, Va., and Ernest Shields, of Atlanta.

TO THE PUBLIC:

My attention has been called to a statement contained in the advertisement signed by one Arthur Wrigley, which appeared in the daily papers of September 7th, insinuating that the MacDougald Construction Company, of which I am president, is varying the specifications for the work being done on Decatur and Marietta Streets to increase its profits, and is not constructing this work according to specifications, and is using inferior material.

The statement of said Wrigley is absolutely false.

The Decatur Street and Marietta Street work is being done under contract and is subject to rigid inspection by the Construction Department of the City, of which Mr. H. L. Collier is the head.

I submit herewith a copy of an affidavit from Mr. Collier, and a card from Alderman C. L. Chosewood, chairman of the Street Committee, absolutely refuting the statement of said Wrigley.

The work of the MacDougald Construction Company, the largest part of which has been outside of Fulton County, has been pre-eminently satisfactory, and as proof of this fact we would call to your attention—

The splendid concrete highway through Spalding County;

The wonderful concrete road from Rutledge to Madison, Georgia;

The Dixie Highway in Duval County, Florida, and

The magnificent Boulevard from Scottsdale to Stone Mountain, declared by experts from South Carolina, Florida, Alabama and Georgia to be the most beautiful piece of paving work in the South.

These are some of the MacDougald built highways and speak for themselves.

As for Mr. Wrigley, I do not know him by sight and never heard of him until my attention was called to his advertisements and it is hard for me to conceive of a type of man who would sign his name to such a deliberate falsehood.

ALEX MACDOUGALD,

President of MacDougald Construction Co.

MR. COLLIER'S AFFIDAVIT.

GEORGIA—FULTON COUNTY: Personally appeared before me the undersigned, an officer in and for said County authorized to administer oaths, H. L. Collier, who on oath says that he has held for six years the position of Chief of Construction of the City of Atlanta;

1. That no contractor can vary the City specifications;

2. That sufficient inspectors are put on each job to see that the work is being done according to contract and the proper material is being used;

3. That the paving of Marietta and Decatur Streets has been let to the MacDougald Construction Company under contract at a public letting, in which they were the lowest and best bidders;

4. That this work is being done under rigid inspection of the City and the specifications are being compiled with;

5. That all of the materials used on this job have been tested and approved by the City of Atlanta.

H. L. COLLIER,
Chief of Construction, City of Atlanta.

WALTER F. COXE,
Notary Public.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this the 8th day of September, 1922.

MR. CHOSEWOOD'S LETTER.

In reply to the charge of Mr. Arthur Wrigley, who, in an effort to discredit the MacDougald Construction Company, has reflected upon the integrity of the Chief of Construction, the Street Committee and the inspectors employed by the City on the Decatur and Marietta Streets job, I desire to say that we do not show favoritism to any contractor. For the benefit of the public I herewith give the names of the inspectors employed by the City of Atlanta on this job:

R. H. (Dick) Clark, for forty-seven years a faithful employee of the City of Atlanta;

Mr. Eugene Robert, son of the engineer in charge of street work;

Captain D. F. Styron, former alderman and police commissioner and one of the best beloved citizens of Atlanta;

Mr. Martin, a brother of the assistant postmaster;

Mr. Al Ivy, a well-known citizen of the third ward and a member of the City Executive Committee;

Mr. Samuels, a member of the Railway Trainmen.

These men are regular inspectors of the City of Atlanta and were employed for their ability, efficiency, honesty and integrity. The presence of so many inspectors on this job is due to the fact that other jobs, at different times, have been shut down for lack of material on account of the car shortage.

The people of Atlanta and the propertyholders along these streets can rest assured that their interests are being well taken care of.

C. L. CHOSEWOOD,
Chairman Street Committee.

The trial of Z. R. Upchurch, 34, of 61 Orme street, under charges of being drunk and disorderly conduct, and carrying a pistol with a postscript to the afternoon of September 10 by Recorder Prof. Tam A. W. Calloso, Friday afternoon.

The Lawrenceville News-Herald said: "Governor Hardwick has a stereotyped expression in all his speeches that 'only bend my back to the God who made me and the woman I love,' but his bending about any bar none, that we have ever heard delivered by a governor running to succeed himself."

The Lawrenceville News-Herald said: "Upchurch was taken into custody by Captains J. E. McDaniels and John Crankshaw Thursday night near his home on Orme street, after he is said to have drawn his pistol from his pocket and caused several boys to run away.

Upchurch was very boisterous when arrested, according to Officer McDaniels, who claims that the prisoner said he was 'fighting the Ku Klux Klan' organization and intended to destroy it.

Upchurch is at liberty under a $300 bond, which was signed by Paul P. Jackson, professional bondsman.

PRESS OFFICERS OF 8TH DISTRICT ARE RE-ELECTED

Athens, Ga., September 8. (Special) — The Eighth District Press association held its annual meeting in Athens today, when officers for the ensuing year were elected.

"We bid," said Pest and Famine; "We bid for life and limb; Famine and Pest are equal."

"Their bright combs shall dim. When the children grow too many, We'll nurse them as our own, And hide them in secret places Where none may hear them moan."

"I bid," said Beggar, bowing; "I bid for them one and all! The teach them a thousand lessons To lie, to skulk, to crawl."

"I'll bid you higher and higher," Said Crime, with a wolfish grin; "For I love to lead the children Through the pleasant paths of sin."

"Give me the little children, Ye go, ye rich, ye wise, And let the busy world spin round While ye shut your idle eyes: And your judges shall have the tongue, And the jailers and policemen Shall be fathers to the young."

Others to deliver addresses during the morning were Rush Barton, of the Atlanta Times; F. A. Shackelford, of The Lexington Post; W. E. Morris, of the Atlanta Banner-Herald; George Morris, of The Hartwell Sun; W. Bruner, of The Washington News-Reporter; E. A. Caldwell, of The Commerce Observer, and Hon. John F. Shannon, president of the Ninth District Press association and editor of The Commerce News.

The invitation of Judge Roy Lamberton and Miss Terrie Newton, daughter of Editor W. T. Bacon, of The Madisonian to speak at a meeting in Decatur in December, was accepted.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Ernest Camp, president; E. W. Carroll, secretary and treasurer; executive committee, W. W. Bruner, W. A. Shackelford, W. T. Bacon, Louis Morris and J. Rush Burton.

RESIDENCE IS ROBBED ON NORTH BOULEVARD

Punching the key out of the back door a burglar with the aid of a skeleton key, entered the home of H. W. Sparks, 405 North Boulevard, between 2 and 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, took shirt, two dresses, and a fur fox necklace, a revolver, a half dozen neckpieces. An investigation by city detectives failed to disclose any clue to the identity of the intruder.

With such an education there will be great hope for Johnny Moneybags.

But if Johnny, Jr., having limitless pocket-money and driving a high-powered car and following every selfish whim, drifts into maturity with no training other than gained by association with kick-saps, who I him to believe that might makes right, only a miracle can save the man from being a curse to himself and others, a parasite as useless and dangerous as the reddest of the reds.

If the boy is made to see the crying needs of men, women, and children in the world, his power to help them will grow, and he will be able to try to aid them even at the risk of all that he has, just as the strong swimmer by his very strength is called to risk life itself to save the drowning.

And education worth the having must begin with God. To educate means "to bring forth," not to send or drive. Therefore, we beg you, we beg the department of labor recently found children under 6 doing a day's work under conditions that break the stamina of adults."

"Lord of Tolls," before whose face face stand the angels of the children, forgive and help us to blot out this disgrace!

In the city of Atlanta, Superintendent of Schools W. A. Sutton informs us hundreds of children are being kept out of school. Will you not help to bring them in? If not, what chance have they?

Moneybags, Jr., has less chance of getting a wife while man, than the street-wif, who gets his only schooling in crap games and fistfights in the back alleys of the city.

With such a training, has the street-wif any chance at all? Shall we not bid against Beggary and Crime for him? Give the boy a chance. So we with the boys, and girls have learned to live. Small children have these flower-makers pictured by Florence Wilkinson Evans—

They are winding stems of roses, one by one, one by one, by one.

Little children who have never learned to play:

Teresa softly crying that her fingers ache today;

Tiny Fiametta nodding, when the twilight slips in gray.

High above the clattering street, atmosphere and fire-gong beat, They sit, curling crimson petals, one by one.
